We Hear Voices / Design Asylum

Lowell Gillia

Dear Design Asylum Team,

I'm writing to express my interest in an Interface Design Internship with Design Asylum. As a student currently studying Interface Design at Kapi'olani Community College and enthusiastic of your team's creative work, I would be excited to take part in your creative team.

Your agency's ability to combine strategy, storytelling, and striking visuals is what brought me to Design Asylum. I'm especially inspired by the motto "We Hear Voices". That mission relates with me deeply as someone transitioning from a finance background into design, using empathy and clarity as guiding principles in my work.

In my previous roles—from barista to banker—I've always been motivated by curiosity, attention to detail, and interpersonal human connection. Those qualities help motivate and inspire my design approach. I'm comfortable working in Adobe Illustrator, Photoshop, After Effects, and Figma. I'm always striving to learn more tools to help me be an efficient designer.

I'm hopeful to learn from a team that values bold ideas, strong concepts, and collaborative environment. I'd love the opportunity to work on multiple projects that can be web design, programming, logo, magazines, and more to be a well-rounded designer.

Thank you for considering my application. I'd welcome the chance to discuss how I could be a valuable part of the Design Asylum team.

Warm regards,

Gina Marie Triplett
